Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Well, anyway, the liquor business is always a live problem. The writer finds himself embarrassed by an error which was published in last Friday's column. The city ordinance calls for closing at 12 o'clock midnight and not 1 o'clock as was stated. The midnight closing, in the opinion of most folk who don't stay out that late, is just one hour better than the 1 o'clock closing.

One irate liquor dealer, after reading last Friday's column, called this writer up and told him to "mind his —— —— business". This was precisely what the editor was and is doing. For the liquor business is the public's business, whether we like it or not. The legislature passes all kinds of laws regulating the liquor business. A great state machine is built to inspect, to regulate the business, and to punish those who violate the liquor laws. The chief of police states that about nine out of every ten arrests made in this city are for drunkenness. In many ways the liquor business, unlike any other business, obtrudes itself unpleasantly upon the public, so that its business becomes a matter for action of law making bodies from city councils to congress.

That is why it is matter of public concern when a very quiet campaign is started to extend the closing hours of liquor establishments in Nevada City to 2 o'clock in the morning. Longer hours for selling liquor imply more early morning brawls and disturbances of the peace, more petty crimes, more inebriates thrown into the town jail to sober up, more work for the hard worked night watchman, more early morning revelry and less sleep for those work in the day time and want to rest at night.

What is needed in Nevada City is a higher municipal license fee, a weeding out of disreputable dives wherever infractions of the law become notorious. If this were done the responsible and reputable liquor dealers, freed of irresponsible and cut-throat competition, could show a reasonable profit in the business.

The opinions regarding this subject are not alone those of the writer. Scores have come into the office and stopped in the street to commend the views herein expressed. All that is desired is a reasonable control of a business, that unless it is controlled, speedily becomes first a public nuisance, and finally a menace to the safety and the liberty of law abiding citizens. It would be much better if the liquor dealers themselves would organize and make their own rules for such control as would meet with the approval of other business interests. In view of the history of this problem, however, it is recognized that this suggestion is largely academic.

Take your choice: The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette says:

"There are no definite and conclusive figures on unemployment. The total of 11,401,000 recently given out by the American Federation of Labor may be somewhat high.

"But whether the correct figure is nine million or eleven million, the failure to make real headway against it proves that the present Administration lacks the practical business knowledge and experience required to cope successfully with this critical and distressing problem.

"For three years the Administration has had a free hand. It has experimented with one plan after another. It has wasted billions of dollars in senseless boondoggling. Yet relief and work relief figures are almost as high as they were at the start and unemployment continues near the peak."

On the other hand the Washington Post says:

"Admitting all blunders and minimizing all accomplishments, none can deny that Roosevelt led this country out of chaos. At the end of his third year in the White House the average man and woman cannot fail to recall that he freed the country from despair and restored the faith of the people in all walks of life. A great majority still firmly believe that he is sincerely striving to make this a better country. They know he has the courage and the intelligence to battle with greedy special interests and they love him for the enemies he has made."

MRS. WILLIAM CASE IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Mrs. William Case, aged 58 years died of pneumonia at an early hour Saturday morning at her home on Town Talk. She was of a kindly, happy disposition and her passing is mourned by a devoted husband. William Case, a son, Maurice Vreman, adopted son, Walter Vreman, of this district; mother and brother in Savannah, Mo., and a brother at Bowman. Holmes Funeral Home prepared the body for shipment to her former home in Savannah, Mo., and it left early Sunday morning.

PIONEER OF THIS CITY DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Isabella Jack Richards, native of Nevada City and revered pioneer passed away at her home in San Francisco March 20th after an illness of several weeks. She was the former Miss Isabella Jack, and as a bride moved into the home her husband, the late Dave Richards, Sr., built on Park avenue where Mrs. Minnie Young now resides. They lived in this city until recent years. Their four children, Mrs. Gene Hallett, Mrs. Ethel McMillan, Howard Richards, all of San Francisco, and Dave Richards, of Nevada City, were born here. Her sister, Mrs. Minnie Lewis, also resides in San Francisco.

Mrs Richards was a member of Evangeline Chapter, No. 9, O. E. S., of Nevada City; Past Matrons Association, O. E. S. and Native Daughters.

Funeral services were held in San Francisco at 2:30 this afternoon. Mr. Dave Richards of this city went to San Francisco to attend the funeral.

CAPT. TELFER TO MAKE HOME HERE

The many friends of Captain and Mrs. Waldo B. Telfer are pleased that they are returning to this section to reside. Captain Telfer has taken a leave of absence from the army having been stationed at the Presidio. and will be on the inactive list as Captain of Artillery. He was in the CCC work in this district stationed at Camp White Cloud west of Nevada City on the Tahoe Ukiah highway and at Camp Grass Valley for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Telfer will reside at Grass Valley where he intends to open an accountants office. Captain Telfer's father owns a home on north Pine street in Nevada City, now occupied by Dr. D. Reeder.

YARDAGE RATE AND CAPACITY OF DAMS FIXED

The capacities for debris storage, estimated cost and resulting charge per cubic yard for debris storage in the proposed dams on the Yuba, American and Bear rivers has been given as follows:

The Narrows: 118,000,000 cubic yards; $4,575,000. .0389 (cents) per cubic yard.

Dog Bar: 26,000,000 cubic yards, $1,220,000, .0469 (cents) per cubic yard.

North Fork: 26,000,000 cubic yards, $900,000, .0346 (cents) per cubic yard.

Ruck-a-Chucky: 24,000,000 cubic yards, $750,00, .0313 (cents) per cubic yard.

Cost per cubic yard for debris stored is based on bank yardage, and it is believed that a percentage allowance will be made for boulders, which would reduce the cost.

The California Debris Commission has asked assurance from operators in the various districts that sufficient gravel is available. A form of assurance as now being signed, covers the following points:

Approximate yardage available.

Approximate value of gold.

Amount of water available.

Financial ability of operator to carry on operations.

Assurances so far submitted show that qualities of gravel are many times in excess of the total capacities of the proposed retaining reservoirs. A series of meetings have ben held at Grass Valley, San Juan, You Bet, Forest Hill and Auburn at which assurances were presented.

Congressman Harry L. Englebright has asked the hydraulic operators to file these assurances as soon as possible, as the Secretary of War will not approve the proposed dam construction until he is satisfied that the money can be repaid, without interest in 20 years.

JOS. C. HOLLAND OF N. SAN JUAN BORNE TO GRAVE

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

Saturday afternoon at North San Juan in the same elm-shaded cemetery where rests his old-time associates, Mr. Joseph C. Holland was laid to his final resting place by fond members of his family and many friends. At four o'clock on Thursday morning Mr. Holland went peacefully into the deep sleep that inevitably claims those who have long passed their alloted span of three score and ten years.

Mr. Holland was born in North Columbia Hill, Nevada County on February 9, 1860 and lived there until he was twenty years of age. He had opened a butcher shop in North Columbia and catered to the trade of the Ridge from the Delhi mine to French Corral.

In 1887 he married Miss Carrie Hall of Cherokee. Only one child was born to this union, Mrs. Jane R. Russell who now makes her home in Oakland. In 1891 the Holland family moved to North San Juan and bought out the Jobe Salter butcher shop and thus served the public for thirty eight years, before they retired. Combined with his butcher trade Mr. Holland ran a stage line from Smartsville to North San Juan for eight years and a dairy ranch for fifteen years.

Joe Holland was one of the Ridge's most upright business men and his word was as good as his bond. He was a faithful husband, devoted father and a good friend to everyone.

For two days and nights Mr. Holland lay in state in his old home where he had resided for forty-five years while his many friends filed past to gaze upon his face for the last time or to pause and murmur a prayer. Saturday afternoon Rev. Father O'Reilly of St. Canice church, Nevada City conducted the services and at three o'clock he was carried to the old historic hill-side cemetery, which in itself is a beautiful mounment to the old pioneers of the North San Juan Ridge.

Mr. Holland is survived by his widow, Mrs. Carrie Holland, one daughter, Mrs. Jane R. Russell of Oakland, one granddaughter Miss Pauline Russell of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. James Riley of San Francisco; Mrs. Mary Lark of San Francisco, one brother Mr. David Holland of Sacramento and several nieces and nephews.

GRAY WOLF STARTLES NOR. SAN JUAN RANCHER

Aroused by the frenzied cackling and agitation of his chickens, E. D. Woodruff, who resides at Jones Bar six miles this side of North San Juan yesterday morning glanced up from his work and saw a huge gray timber wolf taking a leisulely inventory of his fowls. Woodruff scrutinized the animal for a moment, thinking it was a large police dog, then suddenly realizing it was a wolf stepped quietly into the house to get his gun. The wolf heard the door open, however, and when Woodruff appeared again he saw nothing but a gray streak, making off through the brush on the side hill. He fired but thinks he missed. Woodruff states that he believes this animal has been killing his goats. He has lost several from his flock in recent weeks. He is now going to make an effort to trap the beast.

MRS. BRAITHWAITE HEADS NOR. SAN JUAN P. T. A.

Last Friday evening March 20 the North San Juan Ridge Unit of the P. T. A. held its regular meeting and elected new officers. Mrs. Katherine Braithwaite was elected president, Mrs. Lowell Miller vice-president, Mrs. Anna McQuinn, secretary, Mrs. Alice Swazy, treasurer, and Mrs. Sarah Reader, auditor.

After the election a committee was appointed to make preparations for a card party in the school house on Friday evening of March 27. Refreshments and valuable prizes will be the main features of this entertainment. The object of this card party and the series to follow will be to purchase a piano for the San Juan school house. The organ now in use is so old and worn out that musical instructions to the pupils is greatly retarded by its delapidated condition.

After the business of the evening was transacted the meeting was turned over to the program committee. Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Helgran rendered several delightful numbers at the organ and on the violin. Mrs. Sydney Strand, elementary teacher led in community singing accompanied on the organ by Miss Elva May Harley, primary teacher.

Everyone who is interested in children and the work of the Parent-Teacher Association are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Like To Meet Us

We were crowded in the tonneau,
Not a soul had deigned to sleep;
Dad was driving up the mountain,
And the grade was mighty steep.

Round the curve there roared a monster
With a blinding glare of light;
Frantically we tried to dodge it—
First to left and then to right.

We were hurtled from the roadway—
Canyon, ninety feet below;
And what happened when we landed,
None of us will ever know.

But the spooks that you've been seeing
By the road these eerie nights,
Are the ghosts of those once blinded
By a blaze of undimmed lights.

And we're out to haunt you, brother
When you fail to mind the rules,
Disregard the traffic signels,
"Take a chance" when near the schools.

And some time when you are roaring
Recklessly across the night,
You will hear our ghostly voices
Keening, "driver-dim-your-light!"

FEDERAL RELIEF MEN MEET HERE

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—The State Director for California, the National Emergency Council, today disclosed that grants for general relief purposes totaling $144,179,245 had been made in California by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration from May 23, 1933, through December 31, 1935. In addition, $9,015,260 in grants had been made for Transient Relief! $1,228,000 for Rural Rehabilitation; 2,910,565 for Education. Miscellaneous grants totalled $6,460,793.

In other words a grand total of $163,793,863 in grants has been made to the state of California from May, 1933 up to the end of last year. This compares with a total of $3,006,965,688 in grants for the entire country.

CALIF T. B. ASSN. TO CONVENE IN SACTO. APRIL 3

Doctors, nurses, health and social workers from all parts of the state will gather in Sacramento Friday, April 3, to take part in the two day sessions of the annual meeting of the California Tuberculosis Association.

Problems and modern methods in the control of tuberculosis will be discussed by outstanding authorities at this convention. Three clinical and two social work sessions will follow the joint session to be held Friday morning and all aspects of the battle against tuberculosis will be studied.

Dr. J. Arthur Myers, associate professor of preventive medicine of the University of Minnesota, and nationally known author of many works on tuberculosis, will be the leading out of state visitor at the convention. Dr. Myers will address the joint session Friday morning, and will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet Friday night.

Preceeding the general sessions of the convention will be a medical meeting Thursday night sporsored by the Sacramento Society for Medical Improvement. Dr. Charles Bush of Livermore and Dr. F. M. Pottenger of Monrovia, both officers of the California Tuberculosis Association, will address this meeting on the subject of clinical tuberculosis and the future control of the disease.

Employees and voluntary workers of the 63 local tuberculosis associations throughout California will meet Thursday afternoon for a conference on plans for the year round educational campaign carried on by the associations, and for the Christmas seal sale that will raise funds to carry on this work through 1937.

NATOMAS EARNS $1.14 A SHARE

Earnings of Natomas Company, leading dredging organization Thomas McCormack, president, 607 Forum Bldg., Sacramento, Cal., were slightly over $1.14 per share during 1935, after deducting all charges including depreciation and federal income tax. Dividends paid were 95 cents per share. Earned surplus account was increased $166,125.26 to a total of $531,539.67.

In 1935, Natomas Company exceedd all previous records in numbers of yards handled by its dredges and in gross receipts from operations. Gold bearing material excavated totaled 21,756,593 yards, an increase over the previous year of 3,313,340 yards. The per yard cost of operation was the lowest in the history of the company.

This was accomplished despite the fact but five dredges were in operation from the beginning of the year to April 18, when the new Dredge No. 1 was placed in service. This modern dredge has proved the most efficient the Company has operated to date. It has fulfilled in every respect the expectations of the management. Increased efficiency in other units of the fleet also contributed materially to the total yardage handled for the year.

Dredge No. 5 was compelled to work in tailings for the greater part of the year. This could not be avoided as this unit had completed working all the ground allocated to it in 1917 and was compelled to work through dredged lands to reach a new location, but recently developed. As a result, the gross rocovery for the year for the combined fleet, per yard of material handled, was somewhat less than for 1934. However, comparison of the returns for 1934 and 1935 from virgin ground alone shows the average return per yard for the two years to be about the same. Dredge No. 5 will be rebuilt this year. It will continue to operate until a new hull, which is being constructed is ready for installation of machinery.

Gold recovery exceeded 1934 by nearly 6,000 ounces, an increase of more than $200,000.

HYDRAULIC MINE FOR CALIFORNIA TOTALS 163 MIL.

Hydraulic mining men of the Yuba river district, held a meeting in this city Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. C. E. Clark of Relief Hill presided and expressed surprise and disapproval of the fact that few Nevada City business men attended the meeting, since, he stated Nevada City is the gateway to the mines, and all business interests of this county should be vitally interested in the revival of hydraulic mining.

G. W. Hallock of Alleghany brought an encouraging report from his section and volunteered to seek the co-operation of the Sierra county board of supervisors at their next meeting, and he added he was confident of securing their co-operation.

A. R. Hammond, representing the Limited Mutual Insurance Association spoke of insurance rates and stated he was confident that a fair rate could be secured by proper effort. The old question of silicosis has already come up in connection with hydraulic mining insurance rates and he told how the drag line companies had by the use of moving pictures showed insurance carriers that this was a negligible factor.

E. B. Dudley of North Bloomfield, chairman of the Nevada County board of supervisors, who participated in the tri-county meeting of supervisors detailed what had been done at that meeting and as to the participation of Sierra County supervisors in the movement, stated he believed they need only be asked and they would come in.

Among the estimates given, of ground to be mined were the following: W. P. Clerkin, San Juan Pit, 72 million; E. B. Dudley, Bloomfield Pit, about 9 million; T. A. Larson, Omega Pit, 50 million.

Petitions for signing were handed out and they will be presented at the next meeting of the whole association scheduled for the Hotel Auburn at Auburn at 2 o'clock next Saturday.

There was read at the meeting a telegram sent by the Tri-County supervisors meeting last Thursday to Senator Johnson, Congressman Englebright, Secretary of War Dern and the President of the United States.

There were present at the meeting about 20 men interested in the hydraulic mining industry.

When the meeting adjourned Chairman Hall expressed the hope that there would be a good attendance at the Auburn meeting next Saturday.

Let Europe Remember

(Contributed)

Amid the sound and fury of Europe's insane war fever, let us hope there are enough men who remember what horrible butchery, what futile, purposeless, profitless catastrophe war is, even for the victor.

How long they can keep the powder keg from exploding depends, utlimately, upon the length and vividness of their memory. Postponement is all that can be hoped for now. The clash may be avioded for a year or two years or three. Lloyds of London has wagered 9½ against 1 that it will not happen within six months. But there is no escaping the conclusion that it will come.

One thing could prevent war, perhaps for a century or two. But that thing itself is catastrophe, of a different sort. It is chaos, and possibly revolution.

Today there is not a solvent power in Europe. All the big nations are deeply in debt, and all are spending at a drunken rate in a race for armaments. If the topheavy indebtedness led into the whirlpool of wholesale inflation, they would be well on the way to financial collapse and general disintegration.

That would stop war, but its devastation would be virtually as great as armed conflict.

Thus as Hitler camps along the Rhine scarcely a stone's throw from France's bristling fortifications, the best Europe can hope for is delay in the arrival if inevitable catastrophe. And chief among all the factors holding off the explosion will be, ultimately, memory of the first world war.

If only they can remember for decades longer.

Streamlined America

(Contributed)

So quickly it happened that it seemed almost like magic ——and today America is definitely, completely, and thoroughly streamlined—for good.

Airplanes suggested it, then railroads brought it to the ground. Now steel rails that carried the iron horse into the pioneering West are beginning to sing to the tune of speeding, futuristically-designed streamliners that pass you like a feather in a hurricane—at 120 miles per hour.

The ten billion dollar railroad industry is undergoing a metamorphosis so abrupt that over a space of three or four years the whole complexion of railroad equipment will have become as unrecognizable, to older eyes, as might a lumbering dinosaur transformed suddenly into a swift rabbit.

It is not yet an accomplished fact. But it is inevitable. And proof lies in the very truth that all the circus ballyhoo of the experimental stage is over. You no longer hear people speak about "an amazing new freak of the rails." From now on the problem is a practical one of costs and dimensions and furious competition.

In this, as in other things, the West has not lagged. For months one of the Nation's largest railroad lines, born and brought up in California, has been working quietly but intensely to give the West its flyers.

There has been no brazen shouting about it—the ballyhoo period has passed to leave only the less progressive railroads still broadcasting promises—but it won't be long before these modernistic streaks of light steel and aluminum will be whisking through most every community in California.

That's why you haven't heard much about streamlined trains of late. That's why you will see them everywhere soon.

And Setz Drove A Car

(Contributed)

Has it ever occurred to you that Jerome Selz, the man who thought murder just a good joke, drove a car on the highways? Just the thought of this man behind the wheel of a potentially lethal weapon is enough to send a chill down one's spine.

Perhaps this is the clue—perhaps the incorrigibly reckless driver is a Selz type, merely not quite so pronounced. You've seen them—those who speed and narrowly avert disaster and then boast about it and laugh.

These foolhardy souls are actually laughing in death's face. Perhaps they are the Selz type, in varying degrees. The man who willfully drives recklessly could be just a step above Selz' level, and the scoffers just a degree or so higher.

It has always been puzzling the way accident statistics have gone up and up and up when everything in the world is being done to send them down. Mayble this is the answer.

BANKERS ARRANGING REGIONAL MEETINGS

Studying New Legal and Economic Conditions Affecting Bank Management

STRESS PUBLIC RELATIONS

American Bankers Association Sponsor of Meetings as Part of Nationwide Program of Banking Development

PHILADELPHIA.—Fifteen hundred bankers from fifteen eastern states met here in January in a two day conference devoted to discussions on legislative, managerial, operating and public relations problems of the banking business. This was the first of a series of meetings planned by the American Bankers Association in its nationwide program of banking development under the leadership of Robert V. Fleming, president of the association. Similar conferences will be held in southern and western sections of the country.

"It is the purpose of these working conferences to bring to association members and other bankers a thorough knowledge of the changes in banking laws and rules, provide discussion of better public relations so that there shall be greater cooperation and understanding between the banker and his customers, and to give opportunity for a survey of the problems incident to the Government's competition with our chartered institutions," Mr. Fleming said in opening the meeting.

To Help Government Quit Banking

The discussions at the conference showed that the bankers are ready to make it easier for the Government to relinquish many of its emergency financial services as soon as possible by demonstrating how their institutions are able to render full banking facilities to the public on sound lines.

Bankers generally have recognized that in times of emergency the Government had to come to the assistance of the people where chartered institutions were unable to do so on account of such conditions, Mr. Fleming said. They also realize that possibly many functions which the Government is performing are of a nature which cannot be handled by chartered institutions under the principles of sound banking.

On the other hand, he said, "we should survey all emergency lending measures of the Government to judge which of these activities can be properly and soundly taken over by banks in their respective communities."

The attending bankers devoted time to considering the Banking Act of 1935 and the many related regulations and discretionary powers under the Federal law. These were explained by O. Howard Wolfe of Philadelphia, who said he had made a count of the various places in the act where provision is made for discretionary power to be exercised by government officials through regulations.

"Confining the count only to the sections which affect practically all of us, I found there are forty-eight places where discretionary power is given," he said. "It is a problem of no mean importance, therefore, to master banking law as it is today or may be tomorrow."

Bank Taxation and Solvency

Bank taxation was discussed by Charles H. Mylander of Columbus, Ohio, who declared that "the average American is vitally interested in taxation of banks because solvency may depend to a large degree upon the way in which the taxing power is exercised upon them."

To prove his point he cited earnings figures which showed that, in the year ended June 30, 1934, "for the United States as a whole, national banks used $14.89 out of each $100 of net operating earnings, before taxes, in payment of taxes; but in seven of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts the percentage of earnings used for taxes was above the average. It was in practically these same seven districts that the greatest number of bank failures occurred in those hectic years from 1920 to 1933."

As an example of how far taxation can go, he quoted official figures showing that in 1934 a large number of small state banks paid on the average $34.20 of every $100 of operating profits for taxes. Mr. Mylander urged that there be "brought home to the average American the self-evident truth that banks, dealing as they do only in intangible property, are not proper subjects for property taxation; that the true measure of a bank's ability to pay taxes is the earnings it can make."

TOWNSEND CLUB LISTS VETERAN 101 YEARS OLD

The Townsend club of French Corral enrolled Nick Reihl, 101 years old, and believes that he is the oldest Townsendite in Northern California. At the meeting in French Corral Monday night, Mrs. Katherine Braithwaite read an appeal to women to register which received hearty applause. Reports of that Henry Huckins was seriously ill and had been operated upon and that Jos. Holland was also, were received and regret expressed. The club voted a floral wreath to express the sorrow of all members over the passing of Mrs. Mattie Kirkwood a charter member. Seven new members were enrolled, including Centenarian Reihl. Mr. Haslett Sr. recited an original poem which aroused enthusiasm. A committee was named to arrange for a big picnic in the near future. It was announced that the club membership now totals 206 and is constantly growing. The next meeting will be held in North San Juan tonight.

DAN HOLLAND OF SAN JUAN IS SUMMONED

Mr. Dan Holland, who was 76 years of age February ninth, passed away at an early hour Thursday morning at his home in San Juan. He was born at North Columbia and his entire life was spent on the San Juan Ridge where he followed different occupations. He had resided in his present home 45 years. Mr. Holland is survived by a daughter, Mrs. M. Evans of the bay region. She has been at San Juan for several weeks caring for her father.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, interment being made in San Juan cemetery. Father O'Reilly officiated. Holmes Funeral Home had charge of funeral arrangements.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY REHABILITATES FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pearce and family who only last Friday, moved from the Red Dog road, Nevada City to Relief Hill had the misfortune of being "burned out" only four days after arriving there. They had moved to Relief Hill as Mr. Pearce planned to work at the Blue Lead mine.

At the time of moving into little frame house the chimney was inspected and believed to be all right, but apparently it was not as it is believed the fire started from a defective flue.

The Pearce family lost everything they possessed, save the clothing on their backs, including furniture, books, etc.

The Nevada City Benevolent Society quickly came to the aid of the Pearce family and have helped them with clothing, furniture and cooking utensils. They still need two top mattresses. Anyone who would like to donate a mattress kindly phone Mrs. George Calanan, the Union office or the Nevada City Nugget.

JURY INSTRUCTED TO FIND "NOT GUILTY"

After the prosecution had completed its case in the superior court Wednesday afternoon in the case of People vs. Pete Crosetti, charged with possession of a still, the jury was instructed by Judge Tuttle to retire to the jury room and prepare a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insufficient evidence to sustain a verdict of guilty.

Witnesses called by the prosecution were John Euhr and Russell B. Farley, state liquor enforcement officers.

The jury was composed of the following: W. C. Coples, Malcolm Andrews, H. L. Hurst, Gordon E. Kessler, Ernest Brown ,Thomas Curry, C. E. Bosworth, F. W. Canaday, Ray Fontz and W. E. Johnson.

District Attorney Vernon Stoll conducted the prosecution.

GRAVEL WORKED BY BARGE AND DRAGLINE

Mr. Ed Hocking of Grass Valley who came from Colorado several years ago, is interested in two large gravel properties, one near Cottonwood and one near Lincoln, that are using specially constructed boats.

The Palermo Dredging Company started operations at Cottonwood on 575 acres of gravel last November. A wooden barge and scow with dragline equipment handles 2,000 yards of gravel per day that yields 12 cents per yard.

The operations at Lincoln with the Lincoln Gold Dredging Company are similar to the other except that deisel power is used. Due to this the work is more successful with more skill shown in recovery of gold.

These companies started in the Oroville district originally and are pioneers. Mr. Hocking stated in all probability between 100 and 1g0 probability between 100 and 150 from the original, many of them being in use near Oroville.

ORGANIZATIONS TO MEET AT GOOD WILL DINNER

Representatives of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce on a goodwill tour will meet with the Grass Valley and Nevada City chambers at a dinner meeting at the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley on April 15 for a joint meeting. The Sacramento members will bring their convention bureau musical talent to Grass Valley without charge and promise a one and one-half hour of musical program. The Rotary Clubs, Lions Club, 20-30 Club, Legion and Auxiliary and the B. P. W. C. will meet with the members. The wives of members are also expected to attend.

CLARKSON NEW SAN JUAN LEAGUE TREASURER

The San Juan Ridge League met Wednesday evening and elected Mr. Ward Clarkson, treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Joe Young. A. Proom was elected to the finance committee to take care of all dances in the future. Their next dance will be held Saturday, March 28.

Plans are under way to hold another of those famous San Juan Cherry Carnivals this spring. There will be, it is expected, an abundance of cherries on the San Juan Ridge.

BRIDGE PICTURES IN ALPHA STORE WINDOW

The Alpha Hardware Store of Nevada City is again featuring a display denoting progress of the times, in featuring an exhibit of the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge. In the display is a cross section of wire showing method of splicing cable and a section of wire from the cat walk. Several splendid enlarged pictures give some idea of the huge structure. Governor Frank Merriam is shown in two views as he walks on the cat walk, others illustrate the towers, cable, Yerba Beuna island, and tunnel. The display is interesting and educational.

Latest reports are that Mr. Henry Huckins of San Juan is getting along nicely since his recent operation for appendicitis at the Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley.

BEER AND WINE TAX SHOWS GAIN

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—California's tax on beer and wine will total $108,898 for February, according to assessment figures released today by H. R. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

February is usually the low month for the year in tax collections, Collins explained, although the total assessment this year was $15,278 in excess of February, 1935.

"Sale of 5,323,964 gallons of beer and wine was reported for the month," Collins said, "with beer accounting for 3,639,636 gallons and the remainder of 1,684,327 representing wine distribution.

"Californians are loyal to home manufactured wines, judging from our records, as only eight tenths of one per cent of imported wines were sold in this state during the month. Locally manufactured beers were also favored by Californians with 88 per cent of the total consumption being brewed in this state."

APPEAL IS MADE FOR FEDERAL AID ON STATE ROADS

Storms of one of the worst winters in years have worked havoc with highways in many sections of the country and have provided another strong argument for enactment of measures pending in Congress for continuance of Federal aid to states for highway purposes. This was pointed out in a statement by the Highways Bureau of the California State Automobile Association emphasizing that California motorists have more than a local interest in adoption of the Federal aid measures.

The motorists organization is conducting an energetic effort in support of the legislation, which makes appropriations continuing the Federal aid on the present basis of $125,000,000 a year. Members of the California delegation in Congress have been urged by the association to work for passage of the measures, and similar action has been suggested to other state civic organizations.

Unprecedented damage has been caused to highways throughout the country this winter, the association declared, basing its statement upon reports from scores of affiliated A. A. A. motor clubs in all sections of the country.

"Few sections of the United States have been altogether immune from the effects of the unusually severe winter and extensive repairs on many major arteries will be necessary before they can be traveley in safety." the statement continued. "It would be difficult to put a definite money estimate on the damage to roads resulting from the past winter, but certainly it will run into a high figure, probably adding some $50,000,000 to the road maintenance bill confronting the states.

"While California suffered little in this respect, it has a definite concern in meeting a situation that has a direct bearing on motor tourist travel, from which the state so largely benefits."

INCREASE SHOWN IN GAS TAX FUND

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—A steady increase in the state gasoline tax was again shown for February, 1936, with a 15.6 per cent increase over the tax assessed in February, 1935. Richard E. Collins of Redding, chairman of the State Board of Equalization made this announcement here today.

Assessments totaling $3,542,148.27 were made against California gasoline companies for February, an increase of $478,911.20 for the same month in 1935, according to Collins. He said:

"Gasoline taxes in California have shown a steady increase for more than a year. Every month since December, 1934, has shown an increase over the same month for the preceding year. The only conclusion that can be drawn from this fact is that the tax is reflecting the general improvement in business conditions.

"If the present income from this source continues, California should receive well over 40,000,000 during the current year for maintenance and construction of the highways. The gasoline tax is used exclusively for this purpose, with the exception of a small percentage returned in refunds for gasoline not used on the highways."

Oil companies reporting sales of more than 300,000 gallons last month have been named by Collins, who explained that resale of gasoline previously taxed and exempt sales to the Federal government or in interstate or foreign commerce are accountable for differences between total sales and taxable sales.

CAMPTONVILLE CCC BOYS PLAY JOKE ON CAMP

CAMPTONVILLE, March 23.—The boys of the local Missouri CCC Camp held a party Tuesday evening at the Masonic Hall, some of the local people attending. Five of the boys, Elvin Harley, Larry Renner, Cecil Todd Lester Morris and Clement Clubb, unknown to the others, dressed as girls, and their make up was so good that it was quite some time before they were discovered. Ferrel Smith fell madly in love with Clubb, Johnny Johnson fell for Harley, Lee Morris slapped Pop Reeds face for being too forward, and George Arnold left the hall to avoid the company of such strange girls. Some of the local people were fooled as to the identity of this group of new ladies in town. Frank Souders, the dad of all the boys, was numilated beyond words when one of the new girls came into the dormatory and tried to get him out of bed.

Following the introductory of the girls, several games were played, and some square dancing enjoyed, then a real treat was presented when Shorty Custer presented three tap dances. He at one time was on the stage and can surely shuffle his feet. Community singing followed, and then refreshments were served of sandwiches, coffee and cake, served in the supper hall over the store. During the supper a letter to the boys of this camp complimenting them on their work and upon their conduct and the fine manner in which they conduct their camp habits and morals, written by Forest Supervisor R. L. P. Bigelow was read.

The amp cook, Jerry Pauline, prepared the coffee and refreshments, assisted by his K. P.'s. It was St. Patricks Day and Jerry's birthday so the social affair was very fitting. The music for the square dancing was furnished by Pop Martin, Paul Nelson, and Streamline Todd, Russ Reed doing the calling.

FEBRUARY INDEX SHOWS BIG GAIN OVER JANUARY

Bank of America's business index for February moved ahead of January levels and gained more than 12 per cent over February of 1935, according to the current issue of the Bank's Business Review.

The review of California business shows that building and construction showed the outstanding gain of the month, with the state's building permits mounting 46 per cent higher than in February last year, and increased almost six per cent from the showing of January of this year.

Indicating a healthy increase in business velocity, bank debits in February gained more than 28 per cent over the like month of 1935.

February retail sales gained more than 14 per cent over February 1935, an increase far offsetting the fact that Leap Year gave this year's showing the advantage of an extra day of trading.

Carloadings gained in about the same proportion as retail sales, with a 14.2 per cent improvement over February a year ago.

Employment in the states manufacturing industries gained 2.4 per cent over February of 1935, while weekly payrolls increased 6½ per cent over the second month last year.

California's encouraging increase in cash income for farm crops last year was augmented by an even greater increase in return from the sale of livestock and livestock products, which accounts for more than 30 per ent of the state's agricultural income.

Excluding benefit payments, California's cash receipts from sales of livestock and its products last year amounted to $191,585,000, an increase of $43,439,000 or 29 per cent over 1934. Last year's showing was 48 per cent greater than 1933 and 36 per cent above 1932.

Stalled On Madeline Hill

An old tale done into verse

The grade was steep on Madeline Hill
And labored the engine's breathing;
The night was dark, a wild storm raged,
And the river was angrily seething.
Dan Steel, the husky young engineer,
Opined that he sure was whipped;
He struggled hard on that treacherous grade,
But the whole train balked and slipped.

Now the station master at Reno town
Was new to the job and place,
So he waited there for old thirty three
With an anxiously puckered up face;
"By gum, that train's long overdue,"
He snarled in impatient tones;
And listened in awe to the pouring rain
And the mad wind's shrieks and moans.

Then over the wire with a snap and a crack,
Came a message from up near Gurther,
"I'm stuck," it said, "on Madeline Hill,
And I can't get no further."
Then the station master, new to the place,
Uprose in a swirl of wrath;
"No whipper-snapper like Steel," he yelled,
"Can philander along my path!"

"I'm here to make a record, by gar,
And I'm betting dollar to dime,
That so long as I'm holding down this job
Them trains will come in on time!"
So he sent this message out through the night,
"By all the gods of Zeno,
You gotta marry that girl Dan Steel,
And bring her along into Reno!"

From Aunt Sarah

There are so many left overs that can be utilized in patties that the economical housewife should be "pattie minded." There are vegetable patties, meat patties, fish patties and potato patties.

HAM PATTIES

1 cup cold chopped boiled ham.
1-4 cup bread crumbs.
1 tablespoon butter (melted).
Salt and pepper.

Mix the above together, moisten with a little cream or canned milk if needed. Shape into pattie balls. Place in greased pan. Bake in quick over for about eight minutes.

MEAT PATTIES

Take two cups ground raw beef, and mix with about one cup moist bread crumbs from which all the water has been pressed. Season with salt, pepper, a little thyme and a little sage. To this add a half cup of minced onion which has been fried to a golden brown. Mix into this meat mixture a whole unbeaten raw egg. Mold into patties and quickly fry to a nice brown on both sides, then cover the pan and simmer until cooked through to the center. Make a milk gravy with the drippings and pour over the patties when serving. Chopped left over cooked spinach may also be added to the raw meat when mixing.

Grind up left over meat and prepare as the above recipe but do not simmer after browning. Hot tomato sauce or hot canned (unthinned) tomato soup may be served as gravy with these patties.

Downieville Lady Guest of Honor

Mrs. Otto E. Schiffner entertained a coterie of friends Wednesday evening honoring Mrs. Elsie Sigfried of Downieville who is spending a few days in Nevada City.

Some time was spent in playing bridge with high scores going to Mrs. Arnold Jackson. The attractive home was decorated with a profusion of beautiful spring flowers. A late supper brought the delightful evening to a close. Mrs. Schiffner's guests were: Mrs. Elsie Sigfried, Mrs. Howard Ross, Mrs. Jack Weidauf, Mrs. Frank Chapman, Mrs. Arnold Jackson, Mrs. Nellie Coulter, and Mrs. Etta Los Kamp.

Eugene and Pauline Marshall Hosts to Friends

Eugene and Pauline Marshall entertained a group of fifteen children at their petty home at the northern limits of Nevada City Saturday afternoon with a hike and party. Their mother, Mrs. P. E. Marshall, as chaperon, accompanied the group on a hike up the Tahoe Ukiah highway where they ate their picnic lunches and then returned by the Willow Valley road at three o'clock. Upon their return home some time was spent in playing games.

Those present for the happy time were, Misses Mary Libby, Anna Schrader, Betty May, Helen Butz, Grace Harding, Iva Foreman, Pauline Marshall, Messrs. George Schrader, Roy Costa, Eugene Marshall, Billie Rickard, Walter Miller, Stanley and Gordon Foreman.

SEVEN GIRLS TO ATTEND OLDER GIRLS CONFERENCE

Seven Nevada City girls will attend the Older Girls Conference to be held Saturday and Sunday at Richardson's Springs. The girls will leave Saturday in cars specially donated by friends and then spend the night at the Richardson Springs Hotel. The seven are: Fern McClure, Alberta Watters, Cecilia Woods, Amy Lou McCraney, Joan Grant, Ruth Curnow, and Pauline Rocynski. The girls will be accompanied by Miss Peterson, member of the high school faculty. Ruth Curnow has been chosen to make the address for the Nevada City delegation at the Sunday dinner meeting. She will talk on the central theme of the conference, which is "Anchors".

TRIBAL RITES ARE HELD AT GYPSY WEDDING

More than 100 Roumanian gypsies arrived at the gypsy camp about three miles west of Grass Valley on the Tahoe Ukiah highway Friday as an advance guard of what they said were caravans gathering from a western states to celebrate a wedding ceremony with tribal rites. Their leader Frank King, was in San Francisco on tribal business and upon his return Saturday the wedding was performed in the evening.

Different groups arrived in expensive cars completely equipped for camping. Grass Valley merchants reported large sales of silks, and other fabrics, foods, last Saturday. One order was for $20 worth of onions. Many camp fires glowed until late Sunday night with throngs grouped about them, visiting and making merry.

BANK CHARTERING POLICY REVIEWED

State Official Declares Correct Principles in Licensing Banks Are Essential for Sound Banking Conditions

PHILADELPHIA. — Sound public policy in chartering banks was discussed by Carl R. Withers, Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of the State of New Jersey, before the Eastern Conference on Banking Service, held here recently under the auspices of the American Bankers Association. He declared that "few questions bearing on the future stability and security of our banking systems loom as more important than that of a sound policy to be pursued in the chartering of banks."

Alluding to competitive policies of both state and naticnal banking authorities to charter the most banks in the past, he said that "this country was over-banked, and that aside from any other consideration, economic or otherwise, this condition was brought about largely through an unwise, unsafe and unthinking charter policy, alternating between the state and national systems, which has marked and hampered banking progress in this country since its very inception."

Political Influence

He decried political considerations in connection with the chartering of banks, saying: "Political influence has no more place in banking than it has in the deliberations of our highest tribunal—The Supreme Court of the United States. Until this is recognized and brought into being within both our state and national systems, we may never feel safe against the shifting sands of political expedience."

As to the "element of sometimes ridiculous competition heretofore existing between the state and national systems," he said that much may be said in favor of the progress made in recent years. In many states there exists a practical working agreement between local supervising authorities and the federal authorities, whereby all charter applications are mutually considered on a basis of community need rather than competitive advantage as between systems. In some states this arrangement goes even further in the refusal of the one authority to even consider a charter while pending with the other, he declared.

Aside from the competitive and political aspects of our future charter policy, he continued, there are several others more individual and local which merit consideration. Among these he mentioned honesty of purpose, community need, the character of management and adequacy of capital.

"Most state laws make reference to the "character, responsibility and fitness" of the incorporators of a new bank, he said, continuing:

"So important do I conceive this factor to be, that I place it first among those for consideration, for unless the motive is sound, honest and sincere, there is little likelihood that the resultant institution in its service to the community will reflect other than the spirit of its founders.

The Lessons of the Past

"Too often in the past have charters been granted to promoters pure and simple—not always pure, and by no means simple. The country was dotted with such. The experience has been costly and, it is to be hoped, the lesson well learned, not only by charter-granting authorities, but the public."

Other factors to be considered as among the most important in granting new bank charters, he said, are the number of institutions already serving the area, the record of earnings of existing institutions, the number of failures since 1920, and the reasons therefor, public convenience and advantage, the reasonable prospects for growth of the community, expectation of profitable operation and whether a branch bank could serve as well.

"Sound public policy demands that no new banks be chartered unless there is a definite, necessitous and permanent need," he declared. "Sound mergers, consolidations and the sensible extension of branch banking are much to be preferred to any general movement toward a flood of new charters. But here again we must guard carefully against monopoly or unbridled branch competition, either of which might become as dangerous as the organization of new banks."

"Yes, sir," replied the smart clerk "and you can assemble 'er in the back room if you want to."

WHEN BANK CROOKS SHOW PREFERENCES

The American Bankers Association reports that non-member banks suffer twice the percentage of burglaries and hold-up robberies as compared with members. Member banks display a sign showing that they receive the protection of the association's detective agents, who cause the arrest of from 150 to 400 bank crooks every year, the organization, which is a non-profit body, says.

"Professional criminals often boast of having sense enough to dodge the far-reaching system of man hunting available to members, so long as there are other banks without this protection," it says. "They recognize that once on the record of the Association's Protective Department, they must pay for every crime with which they can be identified. Detainer warrants have followed them from place to place so that penal servitude for one crime would not expiate other offenses."

SNOW AND RAIN ARE PREDICTED

SACRAMENTO, March 23. — Cloudy skies with snow and rain over the northern counties of the state, are expected to complete a wide variety of weather offered to superior California over the week end, says the Sacramento Bee.

General throughout California, the gale swept a fire through 20,000 acres of grass, brush and timber land in Shasta county and sent a swirling dust cloud over the Tehachapi mountains into Southern California.
